Marshalltown Central Business District Announces Leadership Transition

Marshalltown, Iowa – December 20, 2024 – The Marshalltown Central Business District (MCBD) announces the departure of its Executive Director, Deb Milizer, effective December 31, 2024. Deb has accepted an exciting new role as Housing and Community Development Director for the City of Marshalltown. While we are thrilled for Deb as she embarks on this next chapter, we will deeply miss her leadership and dedication to MCBD and our community.

During her tenure, Deb has been instrumental in advancing MCBD's mission to promote and support the heart of Marshalltown. Her leadership has driven revitalization initiatives and fostered strong relationships with local businesses and organizations, leaving a lasting legacy. We are immensely grateful for her contributions and are excited to see the positive impact she will bring to Marshalltown in her new role.

MCBD is actively conducting a search for a new Executive Director to continue Deb's work and build upon the strong foundation she has established. Until the position is filled, the MCBD Executive Board will collectively step in to ensure operations and initiatives continue smoothly. We remain committed to serving our businesses and community during this transition period.

If you have any questions or would like more information about the Executive Director position, please feel free to contact us at marshalltownmainstreet@gmail.com

As we look forward to this next chapter, we thank Deb for her unwavering passion and leadership and invite the community to join us in celebrating her achievements and wishing her success in her new role.

About the Marshalltown Central Business District:

The MCBD is a Main Street Iowa program dedicated to enhancing the economic vitality and cultural vibrancy of downtown Marshalltown. Through collaboration, innovation, and community engagement, we strive to make downtown Marshalltown a destination for all.
